

SPRING

As the weather warms up, Spring is a great time to allow your child more time outdoors. Encourage your child to learn about nature with fun Spring-related activities.

create a springtime collage.

Work with your child to create a colorful collage using colored paper, magazine images, and glue.

blow bubbles outside.

This is a fun family favorite that everyone loves. Try to catch bubbles on your fingers or nose.

plan a picnic.

Pack your child's favorite foods and head to a park or even your backyard. If it's raining, you can even have a picnic indoors.

infant inspiration

Make mess-free sensory bags for your baby to touch and explore. Put water in a plastic bag and let your baby squish it around. Use tape for extra security.

toddler tales

Read a book outdoors. Select a title about the outdoors or Spring and then bring it to life by reading it outside. Allow your child to participate by comparing things you see outside with images in the book.

preschool power

Play a game of I-Spy using the shapes and colors found in nature. For example, you could say, "I spy with my little eye something that is the color green." Let your child tell you different guesses of objects that are green.
