

WEEKEND FUN

Make the most of weekends with family-oriented activities and ideas. Everyone in the family looks forward to the weekend, so make sure you keep it exciting.

make it a mystery adventure.

Take your kids on a mystery trip. Give them clues about your destination along the way. It can be something as simple as an ice cream shop or a playground, or a trip to a museum or amusement park.

create a family fun jar.

Write activities down on pieces of paper, such as playing a certain game or watching a movie. Then draw the paper out of the jar to select the family fun activity.

build an obstacle course.

Use household items to build an obstacle course in your living room or backyard. Let each family member compete for the best time or most creative. You can even make certificates or medals for everyone. Don't forget to take pictures.

infant inspiration

Consider taking a class with your baby. A variety of options are available such as swimming lessons, music class, and even mommy and me yoga and massage.

toddler tales

Take your toddler on a weekend mini-vacation or day trip. Try a trip to a nearby beach, including lake beaches. Or look for a local farm or zoo where your toddler can learn about animals.

preschool power

Consider creating a theme for a weekend full of activities. Have fun with acting out adventures from your child's favorite book or focus on a certain color or letter for the entire weekend.
